Confirming That You Are Eligible for a Health Savings Account

If all of the following statements are true for you (not requirements for your spouse), you are eligible to enroll in a Health Savings Account:

- I am not participating in another health plan (spousal plan, individual policy) that is not an eligible High Deductible Health Plan
- My spouse is not enrolled in a healthcare plan (includes any Health Reimbursement Arrangement offered by an employer) that provides me with benefits before I have met the IRS minimum deductible for the year
- There is a $0 balance in both my and/or my spouse's full healthcare Flexible Spending Accounts during a Grace Period. The plan year for the account(s) is over and there is $0 balance to carry over to next year.
- My health plan does not provide services that require a co-pay before my healthcare plan deductible amount is reached
- I do not receive Medicare benefits of any kind
- I have not received healthcare benefits (other than dental, vision, preventive or for a service-connected disability) from the Veterans Administration (TRICARE) within the last three months (including prescriptions)

Making Contributions to Your HSA

Each year you may make contributions to your HSA up to the annual limit set by the IRS.

- Your employer will deduct tax-free money from your pay and deposit it to your account. This means you will not pay federal income tax or social security taxes on those dollars. In most states you will not pay state taxes either. Check IRS.gov to find out if your state allows this.
- You may change the amount of your contribution as often as your employer allows
- After you turn 55 you are allowed to make an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution each tax year to maximize your savings
- Once you are covered by Medicare you must stop making contributions to your HSA. You may continue to use the money you have saved without tax penalties.

Make sure that you do not over-contribute:

- If you and your spouse each contribute through different employers, you may divide the IRS annual family limit for the year however you like. If either employer contributes to your HSA, make sure you include those contributions in the total for your maximum allowed annual contribution.
- If you contribute too much, call customer service for assistance (888.350.5353) as soon as you become aware of the problem. We may be able to help you avoid penalties and additional paperwork.
- See the IRS website, IRS.gov, for further information

Tips for a Successful Health Savings Account

- Keep account banking records, invoices and receipts with each year's federal tax return
- Complete IRS Form 8889 (available at IRS.gov) and attach it to your annual tax return
- Fifth Third will send you two forms to make your tax records complete:
  - IRS Form 1099-SA which shows the amount you spent from your account during the year, and
  - IRS Form 5498-SA to show the amount you deposited for the year

Starting Late in the Calendar Year

If you are eligible, you may open your HSA any time up to December 1 and still contribute up to the maximum for the full year if you are covered by an IRS approved High Deductible Health Plan (HDHP). Contributions may be made until the annual IRS tax filing date without extensions (usually April 15).

If you were not covered by an approved HDHP for the entire year, but are covered by one on December 1, under the Last Month Rule you may still contribute the maximum allowed amount. Under this rule you must stay HSA-eligible for a 13-month period (from December 1 of the year you enroll to December 31 of the following year).

If you become ineligible during this 13-month period you will have to pay a 10% penalty plus taxes on the total contributions that would not have been made except for the Last Month Rule.

2020 Maximum Contribution

Individual	$3,550
Family	$7,100
Ages 55+ (Catch-up)	$1,000

Transfer Money from an Existing HSA to Your New Fifth Third HSA

If you have another health savings account and would like to transfer funds to your new Fifth Third HSA, there are several important things you need to do.

First, you must complete your company's benefit enrollment and bank application processes. Your Fifth Third HSA must be open before you can deposit or access money.

Next, decide if you want to move the entire balance of your other health savings account to your new account. Your current bank may charge a fee to close your original account or a monthly service charge to keep it open. If this occurs, check with your current bank for additional details.

If you decide to complete the transfer, use the following process:

- Confirm that your Fifth Third HSA is open and active
  - Go to 53hsa.com, log in and view your balance. If you have money in your account, it is active
  - Receiving your HSA Debit Mastercard® through the mail is not a guarantee that your account is active
- Complete and forward the Fifth Third transfer form (available on 53hsa.com) to the bank currently holding your funds
- The original bank writes a check for the amount of your request and sends it directly to Fifth Third to be deposited into your account
- Your funds are not available from either account while they are in transit
- It may take up to 60 days to complete the entire process

You will receive tax documents from each bank that has held health savings account funds during the calendar year.

You Can Invest Your HSA Savings*

Your HSA account offers the option of self-directed mutual fund investments to help you grow your healthcare savings for future need.

You should decide how much money you want to keep readily available in your interest-bearing account and set a threshold for that amount. You may choose to set your threshold from $2,000 up.

Review the current list of available mutual funds on 53hsa.com and choose the funds in which you want to invest. Once you have set your threshold and chosen your investments, any money you contribute over the threshold will sweep into the investments of your choice in $100 increments with no further action required.

If your interest-bearing cash account falls more than $100 below your threshold, the bank will sweep funds out of your investment account back into your interest-bearing account.

Your Fifth Third Bank HSA Debit Mastercard® may be used for amounts up to the threshold you have set for your interest-bearing account.

To set up your investments, go to 53hsa.com and log in to your account.

*A quarterly fee, calculated as a percentage of your total investments, will be charged to your account. The bank acts solely as custodian with any mutual funds being offered and sold through a registered broker-dealer by prospectus only. Past performance of investments is no indication or assurance of future performance. As with all investments, mutual funds involve risk. The investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest. Some funds have a redemption fee under certain circumstances.

Mutual fund investments are not FDIC insured, and are not guaranteed by Fifth Third Bank.
