Overnight News

- > U.S. equity index futures followed shares in Asia and Europe lower this morning amid concerns over the outlook for global trade and Italian political developments. Treasuries gained and the U.S. dollar gave up an advance.
- > The British pound jumped after the Bank of England kept rates unchanged, but with an unexpected 6 to 3 split on the Monetary Policy Committee. The result was more hawkish than anticipated, as the central bank's Chief Economist dissented, voting for an immediate hike.
- > Auto companies led Europe's benchmark index lower. Italian bonds and stocks slumped on news that two prominent euro-skeptics were given key roles in the Italian parliament. The euro touched the weakest in 11 months, before paring the drop.
- > The MSCI Asia Pacific fell with equities in Hong Kong, China and South Korea leading declines. Japanese and Australian shares rose. Most currencies in the region weakened. Emerging market stocks and currencies retreated alongside commodities.
- > Precious metals declined, with gold trading near a six-month low and silver declining for a fifth day. Oil also retreated, as Saudi Arabia said it has 2 million barrels a day of spare capacity. OPEC decides this week on whether to deepen output cuts.
- > President Trump signed an executive order yesterday directing the Homeland Security Department to keep families together in detention centers when they are apprehended after crossing the U.S. border from Mexico.

Economic Reports

- > Filings for U.S. unemployment benefits fell to a six-week low, dropping to 218,000 in the week ended June 16. The reading for a week prior was revised higher to 221,000. Consensus estimates called for 220,000.
- > The Philadelphia Fed Index of general business conditions fell to 19.9 in June from 34.4 in the prior month, missing estimates for a smaller decline to 29.0. Prices paid and new orders fell, while employment and shipments rose, among other indicators.
- > The FHFA U.S. House Price Index rose 0.1 percent in April, less than anticipated, after the previous month's gain was revised higher to 0.2 percent. Estimates were for a 0.5 percent increase.

Company News

- > Kroger Co. (KR) shares rose in early trading after the supermarket chain posted quarterly sales and profit that beat estimates. The company also forecast adjusted earnings per share for the full year that topped analysts' projections.
- > AT&T Inc. (T) agreed to sell its data center collocation operations and assets to Brookfield Infrastructure for $1.1 billion. AT&T said it will use the proceeds to pay down debt. AT&T closed its acquisition of Time Warner a week ago after a long antitrust battle.
- > The results from the Federal Reserve's annual stress tests are due today. The country's 25 largest lenders are set to announce dividends and buybacks totaling about $30 billion more than last year, representing a 25 percent increase, according to estimates.
- > PG&E Corp. (PCG) expects to take a $2.5 billion pretax charge this quarter as a result of the fatal California fires that regulators blamed on its equipment. California investigators recently determined that PG&E-owned equipment caused some of the wildfires in Northern California in October.

U.S. Treasury bills are issued with maturities of three months to one year in denominations beginning at $1,000. Investors purchase bills at a discounted price from their face value. At maturity, the Treasury redeems the bills at full face value. The difference between the discounted price paid and the face value of the bill when it is redeemed is its return.

U.S. Treasury notes are issued with initial maturities of two to ten years and pay interest semi-annually at a fixed, predetermined rate. Notes are issued in minimum denominations of $1,000.

U.S. Treasury bonds are available in maturities of ten to 30 years and pay interest semi-annually at a fixed, predetermined rate. Treasury bonds are issued in minimum denominations of $1,000.

T.E.Y is the yield equivalence at which the rate of interest on a tax-exempt security and a taxable security of similar quality provide the same return.

The quality of any bond is based on the issuer's financial ability to make interest payments and repay the loan in full at maturity. Standard & Poor's, an independent credit rating services, evaluates the creditworthiness of bonds. They research the financial health of each bond issuer and assign ratings to the bonds being offered.

Bonds rated AAA (highest quality) to BBB (medium) are considered investment grade. Bonds rated BB (speculative) to D (default) are considered non-investment grade. Standard & Poor's append their ratings with a plus or minus indicator to show a bond's ranking within a category. For example, A+ is better than A, and A is better than A-.

All bonds are subject to availability and yields are subject to change. The bond's income may be subject to certain state and local taxes depending upon your tax status and or the federal alternative minimum tax.
